Future Pricing

As 2010 Q4 ended very strong for Foam Distributors, Inc., 2011 has started off far different. With the industry constantly changing, we have been advised of this year's first warning of price increases in all major materials we supply. Not only the material we fabricate, but also the adhesives and other packaging materials required to get the job done. We feel this will be another year of evaluating our processes and fabricating techniques, along with finding better economical solutions in packaging we supply.

As always, we appreciate your business and look forward to making 2011 another successful year for all of us.

Respectfully,

Jim Doyle
Sales Manager
